

GREATEST RAP SONG EVER

"FORGIVE ME MOMMA"

CHORUS: FORGIVE ME MOMMA, I NEVER MEANT TO HARM YOUR HEART. SCREAMIN AND hollerin, I never thought it'd go this far. REPEAT

~~INTRO~~ If you only knew what it was like to have a momma like mine - the ONLY queen in my life who was there all the time - through thick and thin, hard times or not, I promise you momma, the old me is forgotten - I put you through struggles on the count of my ways - I found my way of livin life that only shorten my days - And the ONLY time I treated you right - was a lot need to sleep at night - but I know you always cared but I needed to learn - the hard way of livin life could make a positive turn - but growin up was hard but those times are gone - I still sit an wonder where my life went wrong - I've been blessed with a daughter an given a chance - to be by her side but I let it slip through my hands - I choose to run away like my father did - an straighten my life but guess what, mom I did - of all times I screwed up this time was bad - I turn to my cousin, the closest person I had to a dad - I felt as if I had somethin to prove - all he asked was to be good to JOANNA AND YOU the age of 8 - now it's said and done, I can't change the past - so I live to make this moment we share together last.

Ch X2 - at end of second line - go this far - drawn out a second time
Lil Mac is on the track to tell the world he loves you - ain't nobody in this world that place it above you - through my life I been waitin to be makin hits - its easy momma caus you kept the candles lit - an daddy never ran away cause he wasn't a coward - he kept his head high when things went down - after seein theres only one momma that's true - if I had a choice my only choice would be you - I can't put into words how I feel that you are - you made my dreams feel close when they seem so far - you're the only woman to ever be there for us - an what would I be now without you - when I get locked up you pray till I get out soon - through all the tears an shit an all the problems we face - I'm still sorry for the times I didn't do what you say - an just the other day we was chillin together - you're the best mom ever, ain't you better - I love you momma

Ch X2 - go this far REPEATED AT END OF SECOND TIME AND DRAWN OUT
