Paul

I hope my reply finds you doing well and having a wonderful day. I received your comments the other night.

Look - there's no excuse for what Robert Henry did. It's not something that I even wanted to know about. I knew Henry - the fallible human being, I did not know his crime. I'm sure you've done things in your life that you regret, things that you wish that you could do over again. I don't know why Henry did what he did, I'm sure you've got skeletons in your closet that maybe you don't even understand why you did the things you did. We are all fallible human beings.

Henry - he didn't have a choice. I helped him out when I could. Just as if you came here, (and never say never) even after the stuff you've written, I'd still have compassion for you. Cause I would acknowledge you for what you are, a fallible human being. It's easy to hate, it's hard to forgive and understand.

I feel for Phyllis Harris and Janet Thermidor, and the families. And I know the hate they felt. Cause when my father killed Connie 17 years ago, I experienced pain of a homicide. So I know exactly what it feels like. I still hurt to this day over her murder.

Paul I wish you well and I hope to shed some light on to our fallibility. Take care.

God bless you
