Missin my Baby

Bydellae

my wife is stressed out! because she's alone, I'm frustrated, because I'm far away from home.
my baby lays in the bed, but my side is too cold, because I'm not there, to kiss and to hold, her close to my heart, to where she'll feel my heart that's enough to soothe her mind, and send her to sleep
No need to toss and turn, thinking one day I'll be I'll be right there! nobody can move this stone.
Baby it's been a long time, it's been over 12 years but when I hold you, I promise to catch your tears I'm missing my baby, and my baby is missing me comfort her in the time of need, erasing all her fears Hugs and kisses for my miss, mornin, noon, and night nothing but love, that's pure as the sunlight, creating memories together, not dwelling on the past not remembering the tears, not remembering the pain I'm missing my baby, because I'm not there, missing her so damn much, that I'm losing all my sleep I'm missing my baby, the feelings I have are real keep her happy, and my heart beats for her still.
since I'm missing my baby, and she's missing me too I'll be the man of her dreams, because my love is true Being away all this time, has driven me way past crazy
I'm tired of being alone, because I'm missin my baby
