The Woman of my Dreams

By Jalen

I was confused, and didn't know what to do, like a game of chess, what is my next move?
Felt like a pawn, and I gotta protect my Queen, she's always been there, I wanna be her King, I love her dearly, with every breath I breathe, we're not perfect, and still she didn't leave, she stayed by my side, like my shadow in the sun, everywhere I go she's there, knowing she's the one God has blessed me, an angel has been given, now I'm giving in, and bout to start family living, she loves me too, but her love not as deep as mine,
The love I give her, has her floating on clouds,
I think about her, and my nerves become over,
because this woman's love, has definitely taken me, I can look in her eyes, and be staring at her,
with just one touch, she'll lose all control,
To me she's the honey, to her I'm the bee,
the sound of my voice, can just buckle her knees,
The kiss of her is sweet, enough to make my heart the touch I give, will make her melt like butter, visions of happiness, are constantly in my head, yearning for the day, I'll wake up in her bed, I'm addicted to her love, so call me a fiend,
I gotta get out and go get, the woman of my dream.
