

Looking For Jennifer R. From Ohio

We met in Philadelphia somewhere between 1990 - 1991. Me and my friend Mike (his name was Mike also) met two white females at the Greek Picnic near Franklin Fields. You both lived in an apartment not too far from the convention center. Me and you (Jennifer) went on to become good friends and in the fall of that year you became pregnant. After that we split up and you went back to Ohio and I never saw you again. I think you were on spring break from college that year, but not too sure. This has been on my mind for many years. If this sounds like you or someone you may know, please write or email me at the address below. I hate the thought of having a child (who is grown by now) out there who doesn't know me. I was young, but I am not making any excuses ~~any~~ either. I've learned in life that God can do anything. Thanx!
