

My Vision for the Future

Twenty years from now, I would like to be a successful businessman and to live in the free world. I want to have my own company or to work for a charitable organization as management. I want to have a base camp consisting of an office and a studio apartment. Furthermore, I long to organize individuals and events to fulfill others physical and spiritual needs. I want to have a personal assistant, a driver and men of integrity to accompany me. The men will be there to protect my reputation and assist me in God's work.

As I move about this country and others, I will help those in need and preach the Gospel; teaching many to do the same. I will also counsel godly men to help them achieve greater service to the Lord. I intend to mentor them to become leaders of the faith. I want to have all the office equipment I need to work and to wear cloths suited for every occasion. That includes tailored business attire.

I desire a Master's degree in business administration. It will allow me to work with and evangelize business owners and executives. I will also reach out to the poor and downtrodden. As Apostle Paul stated I will be all things to all people that some will come to Christ. I envision having a wife who is similarly educated and dedicated to Jesus our Lord.
