Leader of the Pack

By Delba Efonr

Trust is earned! so you won't see me give it, evolving into a icon, so that life I'm gonna live it.
There's many obstacles in life, but I'll overcome, there's also huge corners, but I'll cut none,
stereotyped and hated, definitely degraded, no jobs lined up, with a record I'm discriminated.
Too many chiefs, and not enough indians, that's not me! because all I do is win.
Got alot on my plate, but let me be brief,
I'm no follower, so consider me as a chief,
I'm from Long Beach, not from Kansas City,
From no gang, I got a record, I don't need no pity.
In my own life boat aborting this rough course,
leader of the pack, living life like it's a sport.
To all the critics that's putting dirt on my name,
I heard it all before, that shit is all the same.
People jock my style, then they always wanna pretend,
I'm the leader of the pack, I'm setting a new trend.
I'm a leader! don't get mad, it ain't my fault, look back for what? I won't turn into a pillar of salt.
Throw your monkey wrenches, it won't throw me off track, dodging all the critics, because I'm the leader of the pack.
