Thanks for the comment, Chris! It's always great to see something here from you. I don't ever get to see what it looks like online, though... is this becoming like a thread of comments and replies now, or are they separated or what? I also don't get to see any of my blog posts, I think they are up to #4 now. Maybe you (or anyone else reading this) will send me a copy of the whole blog so I can see how it's set up and what it looks like to you guys now that I'm adding to it regularly?

Hey, Chris, it doesn't sound like you're losing your mind at all. I'm glad you haven't lost the part of your mind with me in it 😊. We had a lot of adventures, man. I'll write you a proper letter to talk more about that. Meanwhile, does this picture ring a bell? I remember the day well. It was a Wednesday evening practice day at LACR, the only time you ever really rode my bike. I wish I had all the other pics you, I, and my dad took that day. 😊 Take care, bro. Expect a letter soon. And let me ~~know~~ know what you think of all my other entries here. 😊
