

Condoleezza Rice Gets Dressed By Conscious Rutgers University Students

Former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice received a rude awakening when students of conscious organized and stopped Rice from collecting $35,000 and an honorary law degree for speaking at that college's 2014 commencement exercises.

Rice as you should recall was the masterful spin doctor who provided the deceitful political rationale for the Bush cabal's war in Iraq and the genocide that has followed to this day. Despite all the assurances and reassurances to the American people that the war in Iraq would turn that country into a stable nation; the reality is, the Bush cabal's has only brought great misery to that country and greater insecurity to that region, and the world in general.

The Iraq Commission, an international group, met in mid-April in Brussels as part of a conference of the International Association of Democratic Lawyers. Its goal was to find legal challenges that could make all the Bush Administration, plus Britain's Tony Blair, pay the surviving Iraqis for the war crimes committed, i.e. the more than four million Iraqi refugees; the more than three million orphans created; and the more than two million Iraqi widows left behind as a direct consequence of the U.S. invasion and occupation.
