

Communism vs. Catholicism

In 1848, the intellectual Jew, Karl Marx, penned the 'Communist Manifesto', in which he laid out his plan for a worldwide class war in which the working class proletariat would overturn the existing social order and create a new utopian one-world society in which neither cultures, nor borders, nor economic classes would separate or differentiate man from man. Religion, the 'opium of the masses' as Marx affectionately referred to it, would be outlawed and gradually stripped from the minds and hearts of men. "Our war is against God and the world created by him!", thundered Marx.

Karl Marx was a racial, though not a religious, Jew. In fact, he was a staunch atheist who had absolutely no faith, or trust, in God. He was a naturalist who desired a godless world and denied altogether a belief in the supernatural aspect of creation. From as far back as his widely acclaimed 'Das Kapital', he looked at the problems in the world from a materialistic, economic perspective and sought solutions purely through physical, political means.

Under the guidance of the diabolical powers of darkness, Marx and his fellow ideologue, Friedrich Engels, formulated the vision they had of a perfect world in which no more wars, divisions, hunger or crime existed anymore. Just as surely as Moses was given a vision in the heavens by the Lord our God for what he was to build on earth (Ex 25:9; 25:40; 26:30; 27:8), Marx and Engels, under the powers and inspirations of the agents of the Great Deceiver, were also shown a vision in their minds eye that they were to complete on earth.

Like every great deception, Communism looks great on paper. The errors and deviations from the Truth are so subtle that the layman unenlightened by Divine Grace may miss the subtle sophisticated errors in logic that constitute the component parts of the ideology of Communism. But, as the great logician Aristotle noted, "A small error in principle leads to a great error in the conclusion." The errors are so well concealed that some of the brightest minds in the world have fallen, and are falling, for the delusion of Communism. A significant number of US university professors, are open adherents of the system and espouse its teachings either overtly or covertly, depending on the preconceptions and susceptibility of the target audience. An untold number of our political leaders, industrial magnates, Hollywood entertainment and music artists from as far back as 'the Beatles' and as recently as 'Rage Against the Machine', are open Marxists. In fact, one of President Barack Obama's staff members, at a gathering of US college students, recently proclaimed (2013), "Mao [communist revolutionary-dictator of China] is my hero!" The crowd went wild with applause!

Yet Our Lord has never left us defenseless in the face of the enemy's deceptions. He describes the Church in 1 Tim 3:15, as "...the pillar and bulwark of the truth." And indeed, in Revelation when John envisions the armies of the righteous going to war against the armies not of the wicked, but of the "deceived" (Rev 19:20; 20:8,10), the righteous are led by a

Yet the godless, who reject the teaching authority of the Church, are left defenseless and fall prey to the lie. Perhaps this explains why so many brilliant yet godless Jews are so overrepresented in the Communist ranks. Indeed, entire nations have fallen under the spell of Communism. After a brief experiment with its political implementation in the Paris Commune during the latter part of the 19th century, the first nation to fall prey to the Communist spirit for a prolonged period was Russia in the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. Eastern Europe followed the next cadre of victims, followed by China, Korea, Vietnam, Cambodia, Cuba and several other nations around the globe after WWII.

It is hard to find a nation on earth that has not been affected by the godless Communist spirit. Its penetration into Europe met stiff resistance and provoked reactionary regimes in the Nazis under Adolf Hitler (1933-Germany), the Fascists under Benito Mussolini (Italy), and the Syndicate of Francisco Franco (Spain 1936-39). American reprobates and revolutionaries such as Martin Luther King Jr, Malcolm X, and other violent Black Nationalists were trained and funded by the Communists to incite racial hatred and class divisions, cause widespread civil unrest, wage war upon the innocents and generally create fissures whereby to destroy American society and any ability to resist the advance of Communism throughout the world. The stronger a nation's faith in God, the more able they proved able to resist the powers of darkness. The nations with little or no faith fell like dominoes before the storm.

In 1917, the Blessed Virgin Mary appeared in Fatima, Portugal to three shepherd children to warn them of the coming advent of Communism about to engulf the world. She warned that the "errors of Russia" of which Communism is a principle component would be unleashed "throughout the world, causing unrest, wars, and rumors of wars." She claimed that a simple consecration ceremony in which Russia was consecrated specifically to Her Immaculate Heart would secure the Graces necessary to bring about its conversion. She warned that it not, "several nations would be annihilated."

The events that took place at Fatima over a six month period in 1917 are beyond dispute. Hundreds of books, T.V. programs, and even a Hollywood movie have been made concerning the supernatural events that took place and were witnessed by over 70,000 people and reported by major secular newspapers who were originally hostile to Religion. Several popes have acknowledged the veracity of the Fatima message and its relevance to the world today. The secrets entrusted to the children are surrounded in controversy and much, as yet, unexplained mystery even to this day. Yet the consecration has still not been properly made according to Her instructions, and the Communist menace still claims nations of souls and untold miseries and loss of faith throughout the world.

Throughout the Soviet occupation of Eastern Europe between 1945 and 1991, the Catholic Church worked extensively behind the scenes both through lay evangelism, intense prayer efforts, and even with the Vatican espionage service, the 'Holy Alliance', a clandestine activities. One such activity was the underground support and tunneling of cash, int-cease until one side finally emerges victorious. The Nazis fought communism and lost. The Fascists fought it, and lost. The Capitalists fought it for perhaps the longest, but even they, too, seem destined to fall. If there is any hope at all to halt the advance and spread of the Communist beast it will be the Body of Our Lord, the Catholic Church and the eternal teachings She espouses. Any other solution has proven ineffective. Any other means of resistance is futile. The time to choose sides is upon us, we can no longer refrain from engaging the enemy or remain neutral. All will be affected. The time to choose sides is upon us,. Where do you stand? "Now if you are unwilling to serve the Lord, choose this day whom you will serve...but as for me and my household, we will serve the Lord!" (Jos 24:15).

Pagan Religious Rites, Modern Equivalents, and the Plan of the SSPX

"We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies under the sway of the wicked one." (1 John 5:19)

The Bible teaches repeatedly how the Devil is the ruler of this world. In fact, in the Gospels he offered Jesus all the kingdoms of the world if He would just bow down and worship him. The modern world, however, scoffs at such notions, and, in the pride of man's hearts, believe that they alone control their own destinies and make their own decisions.

Before the coming of Christ, every nation outside of Israel lay firmly in the grasp of Satan's control. He maintained this control through various satanic religions that ensnared and directed the minds of men. Everyone in the ancient world, from kings, to intellectuals, to mighty warriors were subjected to the dictates of the Pagan ideologies. Socrates was executed by the State for even hinting indirectly that the gods proclaimed by the poets and actors were inaccurate depictions of God; Alcibiades, perhaps one of the greatest Athenian generals ever to have lived, had a sentence of death passed on him in absentia based solely upon the accusations that he profaned and mocked sacred rites; kings were deposed and wars initiated, all in the name of these religions of darkness.

The minds of the common man were no less affected. Contrary to what's taught in the Freemasonic American school systems today, or by the media and entertainment industries of today, the Greek 'mythologies', Norse 'mythologies', or Aztec religious practices were not some glamorous means of cultural expression or means of privately worshipping the god of choice. Atheism was a capital offense well into the latter days of the Roman Empire. Part of these state enforced religions took the part of mandatory participation in profane rites mandated by these religions priesthoods.

In ancient Greece, the theatre was a religious institution. From Greece, through Asia Minor, and throughout the Middle East, excavations reveal the public theatre as having as prominent a place as town halls and public political gathering places. The theatre controlled the minds actor, representing Zeus, would urinate all over an actress for the eyes of the populace. On the feast days of certain gods, all the men in the territory would be required to dress as women, and on other days, vice-versa. These rites were the fruit of religions of disorder.

Multitudes of rites such as these too numerous to cite comprised the religious system of social engineering of the ancient world. Anyone desiring proof or further information concerning the decadent practices of the pre-Christian pagan world is encouraged to consult "The City of God", a massive volume detailing the religious practices and contradictions of the Greek and Roman pagan worlds by St. Augustine, an immensely educated and learned Doctor of the Church and professor of both Theology and Philosophy who lived in the midst of such decadence as a third century North African Bishop. The rites that he witnessed and described delve much further into sin and vice than the few examples cited here.

Modern Science offers further insights into how Satanic powers could actually control minds and guide the actions of peoples and nations. Neurobiologists have long since noted the presence of what they term "mirror neurons" in the human brain. When learning a new skill, such as bicycling, swimming, or boxing, certain neurons are activated in the brain as new movements are being performed. Original attempts to learn a new skill often prove clumsy or awkward and this is because the neural pathways necessary to complete these skills are not yet fully developed or formed. As skills are repeated and refined, the neural pathways develop and become re-wired, resulting in more and more accuracy in the execution of certain acts. The ability of the human brain to modify itself and adapt is known as 'neural plasticity'.

Here's an enigma. When we watch others performing a new skill, even though we are not performing it ourselves, the very same neurons and neural connections are being formed in our brains as if we ourselves had been performing the action. These 'mirror neurons' are rewiring us with a capability to mimic the actions of others and conform to the world around us. In fact, once wired, we have a subconscious psychological tendency to do just that even if not consciously willing or aware of the urge. We may, in fact, mistakenly believe we just 'decide' to do such things, on our own, without influence. Yet this urge to conform is exactly what we were warned and ordered not to do. "And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God." (Rom 12:2).

Over time, the subtle psychological tendencies to vices that are ingrained into the hearts and minds of populates subjected to such satanic rites become acute and break forth into physical acts by individuals. Constant observance of the profane and the revolting causes the conscience to become dulled and desensitized to once considered abhorrent acts. Resistance begins to weaken. This is not a new observation. The famous philosopher Plato, in his work "The Republic" noted that in a perfect society, the theatre would not exist as it caused people to base decisions not on reality as it was but on a false perception of reality that is portrayed in the theatre. A better condemnation of the delusions of the

The similarities today are too obvious to need prolonged exposure. The same Enemy still desires to enslave and control. Yet his tactics must be modified so as to avoid detection. We are surrounded and bombarded by sinful acts and events that leave an impression on our consciousness and influence us into conformity with ways not compatible with Gospel values. We pick up ways of looking at the world, certain habits and modes of reaction from T.V., radio, and modern society. The same mirror neurons in our brains are observing and re-wiring us to be able to perform actions we know we should not. With the spiritual poison emanating from Hollywood we are becoming more and more engineered to living a life of vice. Modern technology has just given the enemy another tool to shape and govern the predominating culture that affects the lives of all who inhabit it.

T.V. is not evil. Radio is not evil. Art is not evil. Books are not evil. They are just another means of spiritual and cultural expression whereby the inward moving spirit may be transmitted outward and experienced by others on whom it did not originate or inhabit. By reading the Holy Scriptures, which were written by men under the inspiration and indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit, we come to glimpse the attributes of that Spirit of God. By praying the Psalms throughout the day, our minds and hearts become transformed to the image of the mind and heart of the Holy Spirit, through whom they were given to us. Or, as St. Benedict of Nursia (480-543) stated in his 'Rule', "mens nostra concordet voca nostrae" which means that our spirits become conformed to the words of our mouths when we pray the Psalms. St. Benedict was the founder of Western monasticism, and, as such, his words carry much truth and weight. By means of Baroque Catholicism, the arts were also used to create such an atmosphere of religion and holiness. Various forms of media are just that, a medium of communication. Television, radio, and reading material also have the ability of transmitting spiritual communications to the inward parts of the soul as well.

The responsibility becomes one of determining the animating spirit behind the art or entertainments and what spiritual influences are imparted to the viewers. One of the charisms of the Holy Spirit is a discernment of Spirits. This charism is absolutely necessary in this regard as the deceptions of the spirits of darkness are sometimes so intentionally subtle as to go unperceived by the uninitiated. Hebrews 5:14 speaks of those who have reached spiritual maturity and have the ability of such discernment. "But solid food belongs to those who are of full age, that is, those who have by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil."

The Spiritual leadership of the Society of St. Pius X recognizes the Spiritual powers of darkness utilization of modern technological communications media as a means of ensnaring and controlling the souls of men. Without such insight and religious guidance by the Priesthood of the SSPX, the faithful would have no hopes of avoiding the spiritual snares laid down by the enemy and would unwittingly adopt spiritual darknesses and corruptions into their souls and would inevitably, maybe even unconsciously and uncontrollably, be led gradually into sinful lifestyles of wickedness. In a more God centered Catholic Theocratic Monarchy and until, such time as God Almighty seeks to deliver us from the current diabolical Masonic governments of the West and aids us in the creation of a sovereign Japhetic Theocratic Monarchy to safeguard the spiritual and material welfare of our peoples again. We have been given God-sent defenders in the persons of the Priesthood and it would be prudent to listen to their guidance. As the Lord said to His Apostles before He was taken into heaven, "He who hears you, hears me..." (Lk 10:16). So we should hear the words of the Bishops, who are the successors of the Apostles, today.

The US has now vowed to intervene as world attention has forced a response. This is a standard practice from Muslims, who rarely, if ever, denounce such practices by their muslim brethren, and we all know that 'silence implies consent'. Meanwhile massive numbers of brainwashed Americans begin to embrace the Islamic faith in the US. Similar events are occurring in Europe as well, as the Post-Conciliar Church has betrayed the faithful by preaching a perverted and castrated gospel. Expect non-Muslim citizens to begin to suffer similar enslavements, rapes, and death as the hordes of Muslims immigrated into our midst begin to perpetuate standard Islamic practice in our homelands and our all too passive, conspiring and 'tolerant' countrymen not only fear to speak out against such barbaric atrocities, but also lambast and attack those of us who will and do. They encourage accusations and attacks against our people even when we are innocent. Yet they never attack any of our enemies even when their hands are dripping with the blood of our brethren. We have yet to hear a condemnation of the racism and hatred blatantly obvious in the names and rhetoric of our enemies. The rap group 'Wu Tang Clan' artist "Ghostface Killah" is but one example. POLITICAL STRATEGY

Since one of the tactics of the enemy is to turn the attention of the world to the non-essentials and exceptions to the rule and as far away from the normal standard of reality as it actually exists, one of our tactics must be to redirect the attention of the world to the evident truths that are all too often glossed over and eliminated from the collective consciousness. To do this we need effective news media to bring the hidden truth to the eyes of our brethren. To accomplish this we need an embedded, coordinated intelligence network to collect, gather, and analyze information from various sources in a variety of locations to give us a combined picture of a comprehensive worldview. Only with such clear sightedness will the work and coordinated attacks of our enemies be made plain and irrefutable to our brethren and allies alike. Only then can we hope to gain massive numbers of members to advance the interests of the kingdom of God by justifying to the hesitant or disbelieving our reason for existing. Anyone desirous of acting as a conduit for the emerging project the "Ingenuium Collegium" (Intelligence Guild) that 'Sons of Japheth' is preparing to create should please contact me at the address this issue was sent from. We need people with computer skills, experience with creating databases, reading mail, logging in information or simply reporting in events adversely affecting the Japhetic people or Catholics in general, in your area. Information submitted can be anonymous but needs a means to verify the material reported. Any assistance would go a great way toward Japhetic organizational objectives.
