"THERE WAS A TIME"

I have not heard from anyone in a while. I hope every one out there is well and prospering. (Smiles) For those of you that believe in Jesus Christ - I salute you. Our country is not in good standing within the world. A lot of people try and pin point why our country has become a den of infidels. I too have contributed to this mess. Once we were fresh unafraid and believed this country was led by God. There's no need to pin point our faults - But soon we will all pay heavy price. We once were respected in the world's eyes now we are in debt to many of them. We even are letting Germany to post up with weapons. A huge mistake on the American people. We are becoming cowards in the world's eyes - How are we going to get back in the political arena without God's Blessing. Starting within our families we need to start the healing there - Respect somehow got lost in our culture.
