

Nate's News 13 July 2014

Hmm, so far, so good here. Ain't had any serious confrontations, but about 4 posers (total) or over-the-hill killers and two booty or wiener bandits stepped in my way since I've been here. It made me better understand why politicians tell people whatever they want to hear to get their vote & get 'em gone. That's pretty much what I did, except in one case, where a guy thought he could bluff me into folding & instead ended up donating his hat to my cause.

And I needed a hat. I'm as pale as powder & this Florida sun's as hot as Jodie Foster was in The Silence of the Lambs. ☺ Hi Jodie ☺

In my next post, I'll attach a photo or two so you who care can see how I look, pre-tan & post tan.

It's nice to be out of seg. It's stressful to have my formerly very simple life made far more complex & to have to politic with those around me, maneuver myself around those whom I can't manipulate into some productive ends. A lot of these guys just wanna get high — all I can do is manipulate them, as psychopathic as "manipulate" may sound. Others just wanna eat & watch T.V. Others just wanna have gay sex. Few wanna learn deep things, or talk about such; & it's those few whom I have genuine human to human interactions with, regardless of their race, religion (well...), etc.

Still trying to settle into a routine that's as simple as possible, which will allow me to get back to producing art & writings, as well as wrapping up my Wisconsin litigation. Hope that routine either includes me teaching a poetry-writing class or acting as an art instructor, both jobs I've applied for here.

Thank you to those of you who've transcribed my posts, told others about my blog or left a friendly comment. Don't feel too shy to write me a letter directly — I will do my best to reply & be considerate of your feelings. Girls, include perfume. ☺

Please like this blog on Facebook, friend me (NateLindell58) as well (I'll friend you when I can afford to pay Inmate Scribes, which manages my page) & constructive criticisms are welcome. ☺

Oh, Boston U' has decided to publish an anthology titled (tentatively) Adult Children of Incarcerated Parents: Telling our Stories, which will include my memoir about when my mom od'd on coke & heroin, went to jail, then rehab.... Etc. Check it out & tell others.... Thanks!

Have a Nice Day ☺

Nate.