Hey Nicki,

It's good to hear from you. I was a little concerned for awhile after hearing the news of airplanes falling out of the sky over there. I'm glad you weren't a casualty.

A double diploma course sounds tough, and I'm sure you are up to tackling it. We need more great minds in this nutty world. I hope the move proves beneficial and to your liking.

I'm growing everyday as I continue to overcome life's challenges. My environment has grown more hostile lately, but I manage to avert much of it. I focus on my case, paint & stay positive. I've won a local art competition, and more painting has been requested for art shows in Philadelphia.

My case is moving forward as I continue to prepare for my next Petition for relief. The DA's office is still withholding evidence I need to thoroughly review my case. The court has ordered them to turn it over, but they have failed to comply. This has been a terrible pattern of injustice perpetrated by the police & DA's office. Several prisoners' convictions were overturned recently because of the government withholding evidence. I will get my day in court!!

Thank you for caring. Please stay in touch, and good luck with your studies.
