DO WE GUYS HAVE
TO CHOOSE

Have you ever look at it that way before ?

We're brainwash into the social concept that relationships equals reproduction. As if this was the beginning of time and the human race, mankind survival depend on us getting any female, the first thing we see that have organs that look like a pair of tits and a pussy knock up, and to top it off we're under the impression of "if we don't get this being ~~that~~ that's before us that appears to be a female, fat then as a man, as a being, we have not only failed some kind of social test, violated some kind of natural law but as well we have offended that female.

Thier is know concept of male SENSIBILITY.

The immoral, insane monsters ~~are~~ are the moral police that gets to dictate the top sided social views to those who are simply trying to figure shit out on their own.

see the females and the males that spell ~~the~~ man with an "e" get to say it's okay for women to have the right to choose when she enter into a relationship not to sure, ~~even~~ when ~~just~~ just like the mans who enter into a relationship not to sure of shit ~~we~~ don't get that same choice.

In fact a female can enter into a relationship, no the better term is seduce a man into her bed with the concept of becoming pregnant without the guys full knowledge and consent.

In todays day, a female can and on occasion (numerous) do get themselves knock up without the guys knowledge aboard or even have the child.

The saddest thing is we are and play the role well. we don't become furious at this notion of being used. The government look at us like idiots because most if not all spell with m-e-n.

there is no prison, no criminal prosecution, no nothing for her.

In fact there is probably some privacy laws out there that protect her when she walks into the abortion clinic, hospital or whatever to ~~get~~ give birth or aboard without you "that poor sucka" ever even knowing...
