

sainttome

Friday
Sept 19, 2014

Good morning! I received your comment's last night. Thank's For writing.

I was taking tranquilizers to deal with no longer having drugs and alcohol. and once on them, like any drug, your thoughts become clouded. Wasn't really thinking about the death penalty court, I thought like most people who are ignorant to law, I've got an attorney for that.

They took my codefendants side over mine, because he got caught first, gave them the first statement. He had an uncle in law enforcement, His mother said I left the house with the gun, his sistern law said I had the gun an hour or so after the murder.

No, my Finger prints weren't on the gun. They (the cops) said the Fingerprints on the gun were smeared, one of the witnesses Joseph Strickland even stated my co-defendant was the last one in possession of the gun, and he left it under the seat of the truck. Did you read Joseph's sworn statement? I sent it to be posted last month. I hope it was posted, alot of stuff, I don't know its posted unless someone leaves a comment on that section.

I hope you have a productive life congruor your addiktions and live life to its fullest. We are only hear a short time, before you know it, it'll all be over. Live life, as if today, was your last day, and enjoy every minute of it.

God bless you.

In Peace + Love

Jonnie