

WORDS

BY CONNIE SYLVESTER

Words - leaving home must find a path to take -

Some -

Like newly sharpened knives fly out to cut and split apart

An already crushed and lonely heart.

Others tiptoe and softly sing

To those who need a little word, wrapping them in love -

surrounding them in care.

Words.. ONCE said -

CANNOT return

from whence they came.

BY: LEON IRBY SEPTEMBER 21, 2014.