

experience or qualification for self defense, athletics, martial arts, & wilderness survival, individuals with wilderness survival experience have a good sense of physical survival, & are good at setting up a secure infrastructure for a defense force, & these individuals are also good at reinforcing individuals with martial arts experience, who have a good sense of physical security, & these individuals are good at physically securing a defense force infrastructure, individuals with experience in athletics are conventional thinkers, & are good at getting supplies & equipment for a defense force infrastructure, the repressive state response to all of this, is to use its security service counter intelligence, to turn defense force members against other defense force members, & to infiltrate agent provocateurs into the defense force, & to use its security forces, to forcefully repress the defense force, all of this with the full support of the repressive state judicial & political systems, the struggle for the defense force, is a struggle for survival, & a struggle to stay a defense force, & a struggle to keep a defense force focus, post for <http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491>