

chamblen:

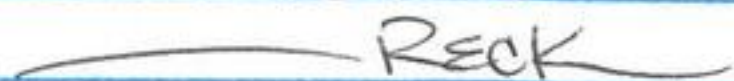

Hi Mom! Glad you finally hit my blog up. I'm not too sure how D's message that you mailed in is going to go over. That's not how things are usually done so I'm not even sure they have someone who will do that. From now on just post it yourself, if you can, but remember that BIG Brother reads all so it can't be obviously from him. (ie: NO PRISON TALK.) And tell him to use his real Dad's name only. And since they're all reading this anyway I may as well give a BIG F.U. to the CDC! I've been trying to work on those bogus 19 points but they are not going to make it easy. It sure was easy to slap them on me! Imagine that. Now they all "act" stoop and claim they don't understand the point system! I'll end this for now and give the transcriber a break but I write to you soon. Thanks again for everything Mom. I Love & miss you.

Hi Missy! Thanks for dropping me a line. And I real enjoyed your last two letters. They landed on the same date but obviously not written at the same time because in one you were drunk as hell! Funny letter! Hopefully by the time you read this you'll be out of your slump. I'll write soon.

Love 2 U.
