

REDEMPTION

After 21 years of incarceration and most of it used to find myself, fix myself and now sharing myself. I come to understand who I truly am at my core / nature.

I understand who I was, how I became the person other than my core / nature. I found a way to correct myself.

I also have a clear vision of all I have hurt in my past, being someone other than who I was created to be. I understand my duty to making amends and being of service to society.

I just wanted to share this with whomever would listen.
Thank you for your ear.
