

I'm giving a shout out to my family and friends for the Holidays. All of you
Remain in my heart & thoughts
But most importantly, in my prayers. Also to the Family of...

(Jose Luis Gomez)

My sympathy remains with you for a life time. There's not a day that goes by that I don't pray for you. Because of him, I strive to be a better person.

What is Love?

How do you say, you love, if you show no effort? How do you express the most deepest Emotion? ... Love ... Are they merely words that we say to some one only because it sounds good? Or are they words that we say to a love one. But how do we show love? Me, personally if I say that I love you it's because I mean it and I'm ready to show you with actions. If you were my father or mother I've shown you my love with gifts, or affection. I have taken you out to dinner or showed up on holidays. If you are my children I've provided to the best of my ability. I've worked 2 jobs. I've put food on the table. I've clothed you. Even as a single mother cause you never had a father. I was both. I've given you the best, all I had, all of who I am. Never leaving you with out. But was it enough? Was it enough... that you've left me alone? Did I worry about every thing else that I forgot to track your loyalty? How do you tell some one you love them with out no actions?
