

Hello Dreatahn,

Thank you for responding to my blog post you are the first person to answer my response to them. For me feed back is crucial because it allows me to feel conected to the world outside the razor wire and guard towers and also its a nice feeling when some one tells you they enjoyed something you have written. Thanks again and your right "Life is what you make out of the stuff you got" I've got a spoon full of hope, a heart full of shadows and a pen.....
