As we spoke we are in the public forum. Many may not understand what unconditional love is. In movies we cheer when people are loyal in the face of adversity. While in life they are betrayed over & over again from parents, lovers, families & friends. My life comes from you & I will be eternally grateful. This is what we are showing the world. Some will get it others will hate us for this. We are focused on a divine vision. If you are for me, who can be against me?
