

Reply ID: jmx6

working class conflict has always had a life & death character for workers, not more so today, but as much so today as at any time in human history, & there is a very heart felt realization among the working class, that the working class has to defend itself against capitalism to survive as a working class, & there are indigenous tools chemicals in combination to this end, with the forefront working class, hydrogen peroxide & sulfuric acid, nitromethane (racing fuel) & aluminum powder, this is industrial worker organizing committee activity, of the revolutionary workers front, & this is symbolic of working class self determination, post for <http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491>