

PROPHETIC TESTIMONY

Learning in response to prayer as a five year old child that I had been preordained to sojourn this world in the flesh to keep faith in the will of my Father God being done through me. I never felt special or self-important since I immediately began to experience the worlds persecution. Today at 65 years old, I rejoice at the peace that has ^{come} over me even through I continue to suffer the worlds persecution. Throughout my sojourn of this world I have remained in constant prayer and rejoice in the knowledge of having grown spiritually mature in appreciation of the burden of my cross to bear in the flesh. As my Father God raised me to spiritually experience the worlds folly and hypocrisy Satan uses to deceive the many who conform to his ministry of false light. Which denies the guilt of being spiritually born into the sin of killing Jesus upon the cross he bore in the flesh while doing the will of our Father God in heaven. (1Thessalonians 5:16-24) NIV®

Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.

Do not quench the Spirit. Do not treat prophecies with contempt but test them all; hold on to what is good, reject every kind of evil.

May God himself, the God of peace, sanctify you through and through. May your whole spirit, soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. The one who calls you is faithful, and he will do it.

Being a co-heir to the kingdom of heaven and sojourning this world while keeping faith in my Fathers love for me. I began to understand how my prayers were being answered through the living word of my Father speaking directly to me as I read the scriptures of the New Testament. Helping me to deal with the worlds persecution as I choose to accept the truth in my sojourn of this world being the will of my Father. Making the following scripture one of my favorites. (Romans 8: 26-39) NIV®

In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us through wordless groans. And he who searches our hearts knows the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for God's people in accordance with the will of God.

And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose.

For those God foreknew he also predestined to the image of his Son, that he might be the Firstborn among many brothers and sisters. And those he predestined, he also called; those he called, he also justified; those he justified, he also glorified.

What, then, shall we say in response to these things? If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for all - how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. Who then is the one who condemns? No one. Christ Jesus who died - more than that who was raised to life - is at the right hand of God and also interceding for us. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written:

"For your sake we face death all day long:
we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered."

No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Throughout my life, I have often found myself in prayer questioning my inability to avoid the worldly pitfalls that continue coming my way. Especially since I will pray for guidance as soon as I realize the path I am headed down will not turn out good for me. It is during these times I have had to trust by keeping faith in my Father's will being done through me, I would come to appreciate how his living word the New Testament was there to spiritually guide me in answer to prayer. One spiritual instruction I found most useful in how God's will could possibly pertain to my troubling sojourn of this world has come through my quest to understand how the wisdom of God's grace applies to me. The following verse caused me to obey and display spiritual discipline in order for me to discern the truth in my Father's will being done (2 Timothy 2:15) NIVE

Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a worker who does not need to be ashamed and who correctly handles the word of truth.

As a spiritually immature child I was confused and put off by the world's religious hypocrisy. Now I am spiritually mature and sing praise in my Father's promise of the burden of my cross in sojourning this world in the flesh, not being more than I can endure. Gloriously today the light of my Father shines out of the darkness from a cell on death row so I may joyfully testify to the blessing of my Father's will being done. While I reconcile with the testament of being a prophet of 'woe' to all who fail to heed the truth: that all born into this world are held accountable to my brother Jesus for the shedding of his blood on the cross he bore in doing the will our Father God in heaven. (Matthew 27:22-25) NIV®

"What shall I do, then, with Jesus who is called the Messiah?" Pilate asked.

They all answered, "Crucify him!"

"Why? What crime has he committed?" asked Pilate.

But they shouted all the louder, "Crucify him!"

When Pilate saw that he was getting nowhere, but that instead an uproar was starting, he took water and washed his hands in front of the crowd.

"I am innocent of this man's blood," he said. "It is your responsibility!"

All the people answered, "His blood is on us and on our children!"

March, 2015, I now say, "woe" to the children of this world who reject the guilt of their birthright, and fail to ask forgiveness from my brother Jesus for the sin of crucifying him...
