Re: RICHARD SHUMAN WORKS TO "RE-OPEN" HIS CASE / JUSTICE SOUGHT
"MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL" FILED IN NORFOLK COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT

Dear Media Outlet:

Massachusetts state prisoner Richard "Dicky" Shuman has filed a New Trial Motion seeking to re-open his unjust criminal conviction. Dicky Shuman fell victim to a tragic drug combination which propelled him to commit what can only be characterized as a tragic double murder - but was it murder? Many think not as Dicky could not have formulated the required elements of such a crime. This "drug combination", now barred by the FDA, was certainly at the heart of Dicky's actions as he had never exhibited a violent act in his life and was, in fact, a pillar of his community.

On the afternoon of August 5, 1997, Dicky Shuman used a handgun to kill his business partners Jack Badler and Howard Librot. Shuman had been diagnosed with major depression. Shuman was prescribed the drugs "Elavil" and "Zoloft" for his major depression. After taking these drugs, in combination and in increased prescribed doses, Shuman killed his business partners (A fact that has never been in dispute). This "lethal" combination of drugs, mixing Elavil with Zoloft, is now outlawed by the FDA. The Food and Drug Administration issued their most stringent prophylactic measure concerning combining these two drugs, a "black box warning" and it is accepted all over the world that this drug combination can oftentimes result in homicide and/or suicide. Cases such as Shuman's, all over our nation, has resulted in the perpetrators receiving various lesser sentences due to their reduced culpability as a result of the drug combination and involuntary side effects. There exists an incredible legal track record in Dicky Shuman's case and it can be easily reviewed in the following cases;

Commonwealth v. Shuman, 445 Mass. 268 (2005)

Shuman v. Spencer, 657 F. Supp. 2d. 268 (2009)

Richard "Dicky" Shuman is no killer. He is the victim of a drug combination which resulted in the death of two men. Dicky in no way deserves life in prison, and this has been proven out in other cases, and he is seeking justice in the public forum through CURE-ARM, INC.
