I received your comments from Li Melvin and was surprised but pleased to hear from the both of you. A writer loves those types of sincere comments. Again my friends, I will respond to all comments but, can only do so when they are forwarded to me. I said that to say, I received your comments a day short of a month after they were posted but, I shall always respond. Thank you again.

I would like to go on to say, this valueable communication thing, though I failed in my past to be a better communicator, I will make it my passion to be better in those areas I failed to be in my past.

Though, I find it enjoyable, I also find it a strange thing to communicate on this level, because of my environment, perhaps, with two males, simply because males never communicate in such a fashion.

I say, keep reading, responding and communicating. By doing so, perhaps we can encourage others to communicate with those they have been out of touch with.

Peace to all of my friends with my heart strings!

Keith...3F1BS I extend the toast to you both!
