

"BEAUTIFUL"
(BE-All-U-To-It's-FULest)

People mistakenly believe that Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. The truth is. Beauty is the essence of ALL things created. Everything that exists is beautiful. When everything is being what it is designed to be. That is beautiful. When all things are doing what it is created to do. That is beautiful. When everyone is doing what he or she are created to do. That is beautiful. A flower is beautiful from its beginning as a seed to its height in full bloom. The process itself is designed... beautifully.

The Creator does not create anything ugly. Ugliness is in the eye (heart/mind/spirit) of the beholder. What some people call ugly. Others call beauty. Unattractiveness and ugliness are distinctively different. Unattractiveness is the lack of attraction. Ugliness is the outwardly expression/vision of the inner filth of one's heart/mind/spirit.

When a person says someone or something is ugly. They really mean that, they are not attracted to a person/place/thing. Alternatively, that it is not appealing to them. This does not mean that there is no beauty in it or it is not beautiful. Some people see a snake as a very beautiful creature. Others, not so much. For one to be able to see beauty in a thing means that beauty must already be present in the person/place/thing. In addition, in the heart/mind/spirit of the seer. For those who do not see the beauty means that the attraction is not meant for you. Moreover, your own taste creates repulsion, nastiness, or ugliness. One should then cleanse their own heart/mind/spirit.

Understanding: This does not mean that you disrespect The Creator, or find unfavor in The Creator's creations. If you are not attracted to a particular person/place/thing. The Creator chose you not to be. However, because you are not attracted to a creation does not mean you can treat it as less than. You must still give due rights to all of The Creator's creation. Like it or not. A homeless person is not attractive to most people while He/She is in his/her grime. Yet, respect is still deserved and beauty is still at the essence of that person.

Especially when it comes to people. Most people treat other people they are not attracted to as less than or with less love and/or respect as they would people they find attractive. This is disrespect to The Creator and His Creations. Because you do not see, the beauty in a person does not mean they are not beautiful. Just because they do not see the beauty in you, does not mean you are not beautiful. The easy solution to this is just to LOVE THE CREATOR and all HIS CREATION. If you have love for all things, you will be able to see the beauty even in the things that are not attractive to you. Most importantly, you will treat ALL people/places/things with proper respect due to all things CREATED.

BEAUTY: (A physical representation of The Creator's law. The evidence of The Creator's, "Be and it is.") The word beauty is from the word "BE". Something that is original (physical) and it is (BE) what The Creator intended for it to be. When something is operating according to its design and make-up, it is an expression of beauty. The essence of beauty is...BEING.

BEAUTIFUL: (Full of Beauty) (BE-All-U-To-It's-FULest))

I want to take time to focus on this important aspect for a moment. Self-beauty is important. It is imperative that you recognize the beauty of self. If you do not think that, you are beautiful. Someone has poisoned your mind and vision. If you do not feel beautiful, that is because you are doing the wrong things to bring out your beauty. If you do not see the beauty in yourself, it is because either you are looking at yourself through someone else's view or you are not being what you are created to be, Godly.

The first step to recognizing your beauty is knowledge of self. Never seek for your beauty in/from others. You have to know who you are, and where you come from. Then you can discern why you are and where you are to be going. This will give you an idea of your life's purpose. Fulfilling your life's purpose will bring the beauty out of you and make it shine for ALL to see. Most importantly, for you, to see. Trust me when I say that you are truly beautiful. Only haters will say otherwise.

No one is more beautiful than anyone else is. They are just beautifully different. Not everyone can be the Rose. Not everyone can be the Hummingbird. Not everyone can be the Butterfly. Not everyone can be the Black Panther. Someone has to be the Weed, the Vulture, the Moth, and the Hyena. All are beautiful in their own essence.

The Earth is created beautiful and the world is made ugly. We all need to respect and love ALL PEOPLE/PLACES/THINGS created by THE CREATOR. Only then, can we rid the ugliness of the world and live exclusively in love, wonder and BEAUTY.

Peace to,

The Beautiful Ones

TO THE MOST BEAUTIFULL, JULIA

I just wanted to take the time to publicly address something important to me. As I wrote the above script: ("Beautiful"). I could not help but to think of a couple people. One of them I just wanted to address publicly, YOU. You already know what I think about you. I just wanted to tell you again for all to know. I hope you do not mind. I just feel this is the right place.

I want you to know that, you are one of the most beautiful people I have ever met. You are most surely one of the most beautiful people in my life. We are both such different people. Under normal circumstances. We probably would never have met. Even under these circumstances. It took divine guidance for you to search and find me. Just as it took divine guidance for me to be found. So many things had to play out perfectly for us to meet each other. Alhumduallah (Praise be to Allah).

Fortunately, for me, it played out perfectly. Meeting you was one of the greatest things to come out of my incarceration. You are the epitome of how a human being should live. Everything you do is of service to others. All you see is the need to help others. Your very nature is to serve others without any want of acknowledgement or reward.

Your heart, soul, and mind possess pure beauty. Because of you. My last year and 7 months have been a healing and preparation for my own service to humanity. You have not only been a great friend, and teacher. You have also been a perfect example of how I should be of service to humans in need. I cannot express enough how much beauty you have brought to my not so beautiful life.

Your letters are always full of hope, inspiration, knowledge, encouragement, love and respect. When you tell me of the things, you are doing. They are always full of love and humility to the grander of things; awe and wonder to the smallest of things most people overlook or take for granted.

You have an eye for beauty in all things you see, and you have a real disgust for ugliness. Especially injustice and oppression against your fellow human beings. I just want you to know. These things may seem normal for you. However, it is not normally practiced in humanity. You are special. Because of you. I have a belief in the good of others. Something I had lost so many years ago. I just want everyone to know that whenever anyone talks about the beauty in people. Your beautiful picture should come to mind. Most people will never know who you are. However, today they will know that you are one of the greatest people ever to live. My life and the world are far more beautiful because you are in it.

Thank you Julia, for being you. I cannot wait to be able to really spend some time with you. To really get to know you better and work with you to help make the world just a little more beautiful. You are truly of, The Beautiful Ones.

XX With great love and respect. Your friend,

Michael Lucas
