

Lesson 4 : Modern Errors Affecting Japhetic Patriotism

To the non-biased, rational reader hearing the arguments in favor of a Patriotic love and concern for one's people, the morality of such a Patriotic sympathy will not even come into question. But in the tipsy-topsy world in which we inhabit in the 21st century Western world, any discussion of the aforementioned topic will almost assuredly be met with cries of 'Racism' or 'Political Correctness' from certain vocal segments of society. In fact, depending on the extent to which we have subconsciously imbibed such subtly deceptive false ideals or principles, we ourselves may experience an unexplainable internal opposition in the forms of feelings of guilt or shame, wondering if we are considering or thinking something wrong or taboo that we should not be considering. The source of these errors must be traced back to their origin and exposed.

The instinctive, natural, and Patriotic love for the members of one's ethnic group still reigns unabated throughout much of humanity. Those most systematically stripped of any cultural identity or patriotic connection for their own natural ethnic kinsmen are the Japhetic Western peoples of former 'Christendom', the Caucasian peoples of North America, Europe, and Australia. The reason for this can be briefly explained below.

Much of Japhetic Europe was redeemed from the barbaric savage pagan religions of Europe relatively early into the Christian era. AS more and more Japhetic nations accepted the Catholic Faith, they were able to retain their distinct, patriotic, national identities while formulated into political Theocratic kingdoms whose temporal rulers were in an indirect manner under the Spiritual Authority of the head of Christendom, the Pope. This balance of power was sometimes turbulent, sometimes smooth, but it safeguarded the rights of God, rulers, and the people alike. The first major disruption of power came when the Eastern Orthodox Catholics removed themselves from the jurisdiction of the Pope in 1054. The Byzantines, Greeks, Romanians, Russians and others then formed their own, national Churches. They are schism to this day. The next major disruption of power came with the Protestant Revolt of 1517. Many States at that time concocted entirely new 'Christianities' such as Lutheranism, Calvinism, Presbyterianism, or Anglicanism and constructed national theocratic states based on these new versions of 'Christianity'. These were but preludes to darker, more diabolical errors.

The Freemasons, who had existed since antiquity, were first officially formulated in France in 1717. They were self-described Luciferians whose avowed aims were the destruction of the catholic Church and the elimination of the monarchy and aristocracy, especially the House of Capet. Their revolutionary doctrines included the equality of all religions, the separation of Church and State, absolute freedom of the Press and speech (even to knowingly deceive and mislead), and the theory that all power derives from the people as opposed to the Biblical and Catholic 'all power derives from God'. Each of these errors was previously condemned repeatedly by the Popes. The Freemasons themselves were condemned by the Popes for the evil they advanced and their entire diabolical agenda was exposed by Pope Clement XII in Bull 'In Eminentissimi' (4/28/1738); Pope Benedict XIV in Bull 'Providas'; Pius VII in 1814; Leo XII in 1825, again in 1826 in 'Quo Graviora'; by Pius IX (1846) 'Qui Pluribus'; Pius IX, again in 1865; Leo XIII in 'Custodi Di Quella Fede' (1892), and also in 'Humanum Genus' (1884), as well as other Popes all the way to Pope Benedict XVI in 2005.

The Freemasons motto became 'Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity', which later became the motto of the French Revolution. They built the entire Liberal movement upon Masonic principles. It also, along with the related Socialism and Communism, was condemned by the Popes as an error. In 1789, as the result of the Masons efforts, the French Revolution began, the King and Queen (Louis XVI and Marie-Antoinette) were beheaded, Churches confiscated or burned to the ground, the nobility stripped of their rights and authority, and Priests and Nuns were either killed or raped. Religion was outlawed and every attempt possible was made to sever a people from its past and erase any memory at all of its religion or national culture.

The new Secular State attempted to impose a new morality, which today is known as 'Western Values', and it exported the Revolution throughout the Western world and into America. Traditional values were overturned and destroyed. Whereas before, a man's loyalties lie to his family, then his countrymen, and then to all of humanity, in that order, the 'Fraternity' envisaged by the Masons encompassed a 'Universal Brotherhood of Man' or as Voltaire, one of the leading intellectuals of the Revolution put it, "I prefer my family to myself, my countrymen to my family, and all of humanity to my country!" We see the effects of this multicultural, pluralistic worldview today. It is destructive and degrading and seeks to abolish all religions, ethnicities, and cultures and amalgamate them into a new one world social order.

In a world being reshaped by leaders with such Liberal ideals, outdated religious systems or modes of morality which impede the progress of these Masonic principles must be either revised or destroyed. A power that wishes to boldly declare what is 'right' and 'wrong', or what is 'politically correct' or what comprises the enigmatic 'Western Values' cannot tolerate a moral authority that competitively proclaims values at variance with those it wishes to indoctrinate into the hearts of men.

By such a system, true believers become 'bigots' and 'zealots', true patriots become 'seditious' and 'racist', and anyone else who dares utter a phrase not in conformity with the new politico-religio system of correctness is ostracised, criminalized, or destroyed. "Racism" is a charge constructed by the Liberals to attack, villify, and demoralize anyone who opposes their goal of destroying all national and cultural distinctions in pursuit of their objective of constructing a unified one-world fraternal people. Anyone wishing to maintain unique cultures and nations will be labeled a racist and deterred, intimidated, or silenced.

Modern Capitalism, which was first formulated by the Protestant Adam Smith in 1797 with the release of his revolutionary book "The Wealth of Nations" is simply a Liberal, Calvinistic materialism applied to the economic field. Communism, first formulated by the Jewish Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels in 1848 in their joint work "The Communist Manifesto" and later in "Das Kapital", was an equally materialistic and Liberal solution to the horrendous injustices unleashed as a result of unbridled Capitalism. Both ideologies, repeatedly condemned by the Church, are international in character and cannot tolerate or sustain the national integrity of distinct national populations for long. These and a variety of other forces are at work to divide and destroy any advancement of a true Japhetic Patriotism. The defenders and advancers of these doctrines work tirelessly to remove any Japhetic movement from gaining traction as they ultimately view it as a threat that impedes their ability to conduct the advancement of the agenda they are engaged in advancing.

It is beyond the purview of this lesson to list all the various ideologies at work that are exerting a destructive influence on the solidification of the Japhetic people, but suffice it to say that the main designations can fall under one of three broad categories: the Freemasons, the Communists, and the Zionists. Within each of these movements are literally hundreds of sects and spin-offs and completely unrelated organizations motivated by the same ideological principles, but the common origin of these assaults on the idea of Japhetic unity can be definitively traced back to the French Revolution of 1789. Its effects were disastrous then, and the disastrous effects are still reverberating throughout the world to this day.

Questions for Review

- When were the Freemasons first officially formed?
- When did the French Revolution occur?
- What movement did the Masons create to advance their ideals?
- What is the goal of the Freemasons?
- Name 3 main Liberal forces at work in the world today.
