Hello Everyone!

I apologize for the delays in my writings. Currently I am in a Business Technology class. Sometimes we have two-three tests in one day. So I really have to study. We also have tons of homework. September 17, 2015 we will be finished with our class. My goals after class is over. To focus more on exercising, writing and being a PM dorm orderly. You all will here alot more from me.

Most of my viewers don't know this I have grown to love people and helping people. I've always been shy so. I use to set back in see a problem in the community or individual life. I know how to help solve but I would open my mouth. Through my writing on my blog. I have overcome that barrier of shy and scared to help because of what somebody may say or reject me. I want to say I love you all. I know it's alot of unnecessary bull going on in the world. But I want to say to everyone all over the world even overseas. WE ARE OVER COMER. WE GONNA make it Together.

LOVE ALWAYS / 4EVER
JENNIFER JOHNSON
