Hi Carole:

You posted a message on my blog in May and I'm answering it in October. I thought the delay was appropriate so that you would know Ron was not kidding when he said it takes me a long time to respond. LOL

Actually, I took the summer off from blogging. I was getting burned out on it after 4 years of steady writing. I guess I expected more feedback and comments. For me, it is hard to carry on one-sided conversations. But I'm energized and ready to start back at it.

Thank you for your comments. Feel free to comment on anything i write - or you can comment just for the heck of it about anything that interests you :)

May God bless you and keep you safe. Tell Ron I'll be writing to him very soon. Ha! Ha! I'm kidding. I'm going to send him a card the same day I mail off this message to you.
