Dear Storm,

Thank you for your comments posted on my blog. I hope that all is well.

Hopefully, the blog website manager's can accommodate your request for windows screen reader, etc.

How fascinating and intriguing to meet you via the internet! It seems we have more than a couple things in common! I hope that your transition is going well. Good luck on your GRS referral.

Yes, I've been a student of Siddha Yoga since 1998, and while I've never personally interacted with Gurumayi, I did write to her in India and received a reply bestowing Shaktipat initiation. I also am accepted by her Seva Team at the Prison Project & Ashram in Oakland, California.

Considering the many scriptural references and history of gender variant deities and saints, I would assume transgender devotees are accepted. You should simply ask! And make a prayerful request to Gauromayi herself!

Additionally, you should look up "Ardhanarishwara" on the Web. It means in Sanskrit "the god who is half woman", and is one of the manifestations of Shiva/Shakti.

Good luck! Be well & smile! 🙏

Sincerely,

Jennifer
