

"reply 10" gvn

tigana

12-21-15

I got your message in 10 days whereas it took almost 3 months to get Lindas message. I've never felt as alone as I have in these past months. I thought the site was down. I know that you love me, I've never doubted that, know that I love you to, always have, always will. I know sometimes you don't like me ever hate me, I understand, I don't myself a lot of the time. Sometimes I want to ram my head into the wall, sometimes I feel the need for a drink to forget some of the bad things I've done so I don't ram my head into the wall, I don't drink as much as I use to as it doesn't dud me the way it once did. I go to a Psychiatrist to try to remember some of the things I've worked so hard for so many years to block out, - things I've forgotten and can't believe I did - that's not the way I see myself. The Psychiatrist said she wants me to remember and face what I've done before we start looking for a cause. I do feel the pain of all the people I've harmed with my actions and that includes you my love. I'm not looking for excuses or someone else to blame for my actions. What I did I did, I'm sorry for all the things I've done, I wish I could change them but I can't so I'll have to live with them for the rest of my days.

I am still doing things to try to improve myself. I'm still on the list for A.O. and will start back next week as my C-status ends this week. I am also on the list to start the New Victims Awareness Program in January. You need to know that I'm not playing games. With taking these groups & classes, I take these groups getting my D.D., my writings, my painting, These are all things I do for me. Sometimes just something to do to better myself, to better understand myself. Like seeing the Psychiatrist. I'm not doing any of this for some kind of gain, because there is none. I don't look to ever get out of prison and I've learned to be alright with that but sometime I do dream, Prison is something I understand. Would I like to go home someday? I would like to have a home to go home to. There's only one thing I want, I need, out of the life I have left and that is to have you with me when I'm hurting and in need. Forever Ever.