

#208

Reply I.D. uwap

Letter to Julie_ann_morris@hotmail.com

Thank you Julie! My apologies for taking so long to say so.

I received the envelopes + pad of paper, but not the pens. They supply me with pens + refused to put the ones you bought me in storage. Because I couldn't afford to mail the pens out, they were destroyed.

That's why I ask that people only buy me things I specifically ask for. No sense in spending money on things that'll end up thrown away.

A friend recently bought me a book from Amazon. Amazon isn't in the habit of enclosing receipts in such cases. Staff denied me the book because all books sent to me must come with a receipt, from a business.

The prison I am in started as a supermax + the delusionally self-righteous hypocrites running the mailroom + property department here are original staff, never met a rule, procedure or code they didn't like or a prisoner they see as a human being... They will deny anything they can for any reason they can.

If you want to correspond with me, send me a letter. Your choice.

If you want to help me some more, or anyone reading this, here are some items I'd like from www.winmatepackage.com:

item# 6515386 5-pack embossed postage envelopes $3.15

item# 7452034 Pine-scented oil $3.75

5515011 a 16 oz. cup $1.50

6002007 a deck of playing cards $1.65

Koss CL-5 headphones w/ 8 ft. cord

Really, what I crave is envelopes + scented oil, so I can write the media, to my blog + have a cell that smells nice.

Nice to meet you + thanks again.