

Nate's News 17 January 2016

Still in solitary confinement. Fairly quiet. I'm at one end of range 1 Foxtrof unit & the guys who shout at each other are at the other end of the hallway.

Been spending most of my time writing various drafts of various volumes & sections of my autobiography. Planning to put it on wordsmash.com with the help of my friend.

In March an anthology containing a 4-5,000 word memoir of mine is coming out. It's listed on Amazon now: Adult Children of Incarcerated Parents: Telling Our Stories, Routledge 2016. Please "buy your copy today!" I'm not making any $ off it, but I know it'll help some kids out there, or should.

Otherwise it's been pretty boring in here. Staff aren't as keen as they once were to crawl up our ass about petty shit, but we're still held in stark, senselessly stifling confinement.

Once vol. 2 of my autobiography is published, you will have a well-detailed and well-documented story about WI's prison system inflicting injustice after injustice on me. Nothing special, just finally told.

For anyone wanting to help me financially, I can't spend any $ sent to me until the $10,000 I owe for litigation is paid. So, instead of sending $, you can buy these items from 1-800-236-2611

- # 8039 5-pack embossed postage envelopes -$3.15
  - # 8065 16 oz. cup $1.44
  - # 8146 Ferrous scented oil $3.68
  - # 4624 Rug-Brown $13.13
  - # 3543 Koss CL-5 headphones $7.24
- a T.V. would be awesome
4460R $149.65

Books sent to me will be denied unless they arrive with a receipt & come from a business.

Thanks, Nate
