

THE KHLOE'S OF THE WORLD

February 14, 2016

First and foremost, I sincerely pray all the beautiful women of our world are being treated like the queens they are. Today is a special day where love is confess. But in all honesty, everyday we should display our affection to that special woman in our life. With that said I wish all the beautiful women out there a Happy Valentine's day!

I usually do not comment on things in the entertainment world. But I must commend "Khloe Kardashian" for her never waivering support of "Lamar odom". she is demonstrating the true meaning of love. Considering their then pending divorce and her financial stability, Khloe had several logical reasons to wash her hands of Lamar. But instead, when he hit rock bottom, she stop everything and went to his side. we all know Khloe is physically beautiful, but this showing of loyalty and inner beauty makes her one of the most beautiful women in the world!

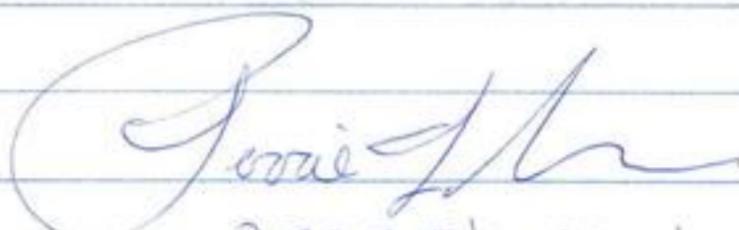

In today's fast world, it is hard to find a woman who displays that level of loyalty. Let's be honest, men make alot of bad decisions, and often when we fall, we fall hard. Then the people we thought loved us, often pales on to our misfortune by turning their backs on us. Having the people you love turn their back on you is a devastating feeling. I am living in that misery as I write this, so I understand. we as men walk around and try to show as little emotion as possible, but inside, we truly seek that affection and support that only a woman we love can give, especially when we hit rock bottom. Khloe being there for Lamar at this time is so authentic! Further, Khloe's support will show him he's loved, which will help him in his recovery. Take note ladies! we need you all! Yes sometimes we act like we don't need you, but we do! It means the world to us when y'all pick us up when we fall. We Love y'all! 😊 shot out to all the Khloe's of the world!
