It's not an everyday thought. Nor do we look at the beauty that surrounds us, the miracles that invade our lives, the unexpected meeting of a need out of nowhere or waking up to see the dawn of a new day. Somehow in our daily commutes, we rarely see, or acknowledge, or are even aware of the wisdom of God at work in our lives and in our world.

One of the lessons I've learned in prison is that God's wisdom was present and at work, forming and fashioning, settling and securing me even when I was serving our adversary the devil.

God has planted evidence of His existence on the pages of history, in the handiwork of nature and the beauty of the skies above us. We find nourishment for our bodies tucked away in plants, animals, and minerals. Sailors find directions in the stars He hung in the heavens as they sail from one country to another.

Wherever we look, we can find God's fingerprint on the planet. Yet, it takes a willingness to see Him, an open mind to search for Him, a sensitive heart to accept Him and a selfless life to follow Him.

We may have a deed to a home, or a title to a car, a large portfolio of stocks or a large amount of cash in the bank. But we have no control over any of our possessions. With the tick of a clock or the beat of a heart, everything could be gone. Our possessions are on loan to honor God.
