

Prison Heart's Ache

5-5-16

One more night of sleepless pain
One more night I call your name
One more dawn that just won't come
One more night my heart dies some

Why you turned away from me
Why you left is a mystery
Since you've flown away I find
My hope is gone, I've lost my mind

With each breath I take
With each day I wake
As prison time stands still
With all I am I will
Still be loving you

You'll be gone before I'm free
Now I'll be coming home to a house that's empty
And as I lie away from you
It's true that I can't love for two; anymore

My prison fate has come to be
I love you; you don't love me
But a thousand goodbyes won't be enough
To stop me loving for both of us
To stop me hurting the way I must
To stop me dying from the loss of us. ~→

So how do you love? Is there some set of rules or guidelines or is it automatic? I know, as we all do, that there is a wrong way to love but what's the correct way? Teach me how to be a better lover so I can experience the unconditional love given to me from heaven, here on earth. Hello... is any woman listening? Prisoners deserve love and friendship too! Don't you think?

Rechell Williams #V69138
P.O. Box 5248 A3-17-5
CORCORAN, CA 93212

