My Love; moving slow as always now a days, old age, gotten fat, just not in a hurry to get anywhere and I spend more time thinking about doing something then I do doing it ☺ I got your message this one dated May 23, 2016, 10 hours 32 minutes after you posted, good time. I understand when you you're not really into writing right now - I know I've gotten out of the easy writing page after page I was doing only a couple of years ago, but because we do so much cell time I try to put down a few words on paper if I'm not depressed and I haven't been much since the Phy put me on medication ☺ the only thing is I do skip getting it sometimes because the lines are long, one demon lady that works there takes an hour + a half so I don't get it days she works. It has been hot here for a couple of weeks now - people think I might just be crazy because I like it, gotten use to it so I don't sweat that much, don't complain what's to complain about, my arthritis isn't hurting from my head to my toe. ☺ Do Cella get married - so what's this for her #6 or 7 ☺ I hope this is the one. I finished the painting of Mom + Dad "touch up and all ☺). It's some of my best work, of course I took a lot of time with it. Now I have to get ready for the Pier 5 Art Show in San Francisco. Even if I don't get to spend much of the money (I make more on the yard doing cards) I enjoy knowing people like my art enough to pay for it ☺ ♡ You are the love of my heart and your notes make my day, my week, my world. I dream of you when I'm walking the track, when I'm laying here under the fan watching t.v. You are in my arms when I'm in a deep sleep - I wish I could open the window for you my love but you'll have to do that for us ☺ Thinking of you every waking day, dreaming of you every night.

Loving you Forever + Ever
