uhadme TMG —

"We chose our gurus", you say? Let's see. Guru \gʊr(,)ü\ n. pl gurus [Hindi gurū, fr. Skt guru fr. guru adj. heavy, venerable] 1: a personal religious teacher and spiritual guide in Hinduism 2. a: a teacher and esp. intellectual guide in matters of fundamental concern b: one who is an acknowledged leader or chief proponent c: a person with knowledge or expertise.

Yes, so it is. And since people tend to emulate that which they revere, there is a certain Contagion of Aberration... for those who cling to them — I agree. Me though; do you know what an ICONOCLAST is/does? Boundries still do attract me, ol buddy. My enemies are my gurus! My antagonist is my teacher! Because, let's keep it real; That which doesn't kill us makes us stronger.

That "graffity incident" was exciting (40 yrs ago), wasn't it? A couple white kidz in a bi-lingual ghetto. It's odd what conflict does to some people. Some learn a lesson to obey boundries (Because of you I never leave the sidewalk — That Kelly Clarkson(?) pop-song kills me!), while others learn a lesson of daring. In technical terms, the overt of omission is what causes degradation.

Then of course there are the Fabians, who've learned to gauge their engagements by befriending daring heroes — all too willing to sacrifice those glory-hounds for the sake of reconnaissance missions. Yes indeedly, Fabian demagogues are the most hospitable hosts of heroes, they are! And there is no greater pleasure than making them cringe too.

What do you mean, "terrible life"? "idts" (idontthinkso)? "stop playing victim", you say? Here, let me help you clear-up that misunderstood word; VICTIM \vik-təm\ n.
 [ME vycym - akin to OIG wih holy] 1: a living being sacrificed to a deity or in the performance of a religious rite 2: one that is acted on and usu. adversely affected by a force or agent.

Yea, I'm not "playing", dude! I've earned my crown of thorns, stupid! Do you dare think I'm ashamed of my scars? I brandish them as badges of honor! Armchair warriors recite Henley's "Invictus", yet instinctively resent, hate and seek to obstruct any hero on his quest of the Supreme Test. Why is that, pray tell? In technical terms, Degraded Beings regret confronting Integrity. The shame is theirs to bear until they As Is their overts of omission. Until they understand — The Wrong Thing To Do Is Nothing!

On that note bro, I'd like to share the most recent 'Certificate of Completion' I received July 26, 2016. Wow! After two years effort to generate interest in the Scientology group I was trying to establish here, I'd decided to join the budding Buddhist group in my spare time — mostly to support the Monks who were establishing their ministry here... which was of course an opportunity for me to observe their M.O. as well. Every other month they were escorted in — complaining about the difficulties with prison officials

NOT returning phone calls - responding to e-mails - delivering donated materials - scheduling escorts and such. Of the dozen or so other prisons they visited, Mule Creek officials were the worst, they said. Yet they persevered and on 7/26, prison officials were present for a photo op. Certificate Ceremony. "So what did you learn", the warden asked the group. "Compassion", they sang; "Patience, Non-Attachment". Yea, I think they'll probably crop me out of that group photo, with my humorous sneer. If asked what I'd learned, I'd have to say it appears Humbleness is the price payed to play here. Now IBS has added one more post in their prison ministry. It's beautiful! Lotus eaters don't challenge status quo - and will play their role to subjugate Boundry Seekers. Yea, having failed to secure support for my Scientology group in two years, which promotes Awareness of Ability, I just couldn't eat the humble pie and celebrate with the others who all agree they didn't actually learn anything new in the five-or-fewer-classes they'd attended.

For contrast sake, I'm attaching other Certs I've received here over the years. Beginning with the Houses of Healing book-study group of 2013. The topics of that book were so profoundly revealing that I took that class twice! (P.S. I've also just completed a much more intense correspondence course studying that book, and I highly recommend others contact them at: The Lionheart Foundation, P.O. Box 4145, Dedham, MA 02027, for the "Houses of Healing" book/study course).

Also in 2013, I was part of the Founding Group of "Self Exploration through Writing", I remained a contributing member of for a couple more years, teaching by example - and learning by experience. Three years co-operating in self-help groups with nary a complaint, serves to prove I don't play the victim role bro! until Power Players provoke it.

So that's that. I'm afraid there is Wrong in the world bro. Wrong things, emotions - and even wrong flowers! And sadly, the only reason Wrong exists (minimal survival for the minimal number) aka Mediocrity, is because a thing called NULLIFICATION. Merchants of Chaos maintain this suppressed Society! And for lack of a horseshoe nail - which supports the horseshoe - which supports the horse - which supports the hero - which rights the wrongs - Homo Novis remains merely a figment of fabricans sitting in their ivory towers, compounding their omissions of shame. Stupid Robots!

I'm so grateful you wrote in response to the group appeal I posted 6/25. Infinitely Here Now, doing my best not to get trapped in these games, I wish you well - in every way.

For the Love of Truth!

Noblesse Oblige.

Living On Purpose

Certificate of Completion

FOR MEMBERSHIP IN THE FOUNDING GROUP OF Self Exploration through Writing

Presented to:

W. Goehner K-77832

He completed an 18 week course titled: LIVING ON PURPOSE. This course consisted of weekly writing assignments which he was required to complete. He has shown an interest and willingness, and has given the necessary effort to increase his awareness of the need for goal setting and the importance of a constructive and pro-social value system. He also learned the need to maintain that system, and how the meaning he applies to his life reinforces his behavior.

During these meetings he has displayed a positive attitude toward his peers and staff sponsors. I commend him for his contributions to the group and his personal commitment to improving his lifestyle and continuing his recovery.

Thank You
