"Know me"

I'm someone who thinks for himself, solves his own problems, and avoid the pitfalls (Emotionals)(Faithfuls)(Irresponsibles). i believe i'll be success in life, because i know how to create my own success.

you can also describe me as someone who usually has a purpose to the words, ways, and actions i choose. i may not always make the most popular choice, but my choices are intentionally designed to bring about the results i want. i'm also someone who thinks rationally and clearly, not to mention critically. my essential qualities of good thinking is to question the ideas that everyone else has so that i can arrive at my own understanding. i am the type of individual that employs effective thinking in my approach to life. also, leadership is in me. Im creative, assertive and empathetic. i can bring people together for a common cause and build them up to make things happen. but the best part is that i value the abilities of others. i have high expectations of people, sometimes higher than they have of themselves. i may even be prepared to do what i can to help them see their own potential. to contact me personally the address is:
