Gonna Be Alright!

By: Debra E. Jones

I wanted to end my life, contemplating suicide, cause I was in prison, when both of my parents died.
I didn't know what to do, I had no motivation, wanted to cut my wrists, part of suicidal ideation.
I've prayed and prayed, and He heard my prayer.
I heard a voice, sounded like mom was there.
Then I started thinking, about what she wanted me to do, kept hearing her say, "I'm still proud of you!"
I felt like I let her down, felt she wasn't proud, now everytime I'm outside, I put my head to the clouds, knowing that's where she's at, once again with my dad,
All I have are the memories, the phone calls we've had.
The times I made her laugh, all the letters I've wrote, how much I loved them, comforting a heart that's broke.
A weight lifted off my shoulders, when I said good-bye, she had to hear me, cause tears formed in her eyes.
I know she's no longer have heartache, and no more pain never forgetting my parents; their spirit runs thru my veins.
my mom came to me, and told me not to give up, when you fall dust yourself off, and keep your head up.
I don't think I'll ever be able, to erase the heartache, my parents died while I was in prison, a memory I can't shake
But joy came to me, when I was weeping all night, my mom and dad told me to rise up! everything's gonna be alright!

violence recognize violence, like game recognize game,
he may of killed officers, but really! whos the blame?
Can you blame a black person? for sniping off cops?
or do you blame police for all of the blacks thats been shot?
Do you blame policy? do you blame the justice system?
All blacks aint the same, but as a whole were a victim.
A bunch of controversy, its in everybodys conversation,
if people are killing cops, whos protecting the nation?
when it starts getting bad, who will come next?
will they send the marines, or a F-18 fighter jet?
will the Navy come, will the president send the army?
will homeland security get involved, when they wanna harm me?
They yelling "BLACK LIVES MATTER, BLACK LIVES MATTER," but no one hears our cries, to them its indistinguishable chatter.
we've had it up to here! enough is enough,
when will a cop, finally be put in handcuffs?
when will there be a conviction, when will justice be served?
To micah! those cops got exactly what they deserved.
People yelling "those cops didnt deserve that"
well what about the blacks? that the cops laid out flat.
Do cops lives matter? why the government aint asking why?
what about their excessive force, cutting off our air supply.
Yeah! Police is sworn to protect, but some cops are tainted, everybody life does matter, but a horrible picture is painted.
of protestors all over the country, screaming they care, want to change policy, Posters of black peoples hands in the air.
Its the same ol same, everybody scream and shout,
the government aint listening, dont care what we talkin bout!
we've said it over and over, we've had it up to here, so when will they listen? we've made it loud and clear.
