

Reply ID: dVx2 (Ashka)

Thank you for working on ~~my~~ the transcription for my post. It's OK. I understand that time is essence, but with that being said. Sometimes there is no need of being in no hurry. Things still get done. I hate to hear you have a vision problem. Just know you are not alone. I do, as well. I wear bifocals glasses but sometimes they are not good enough. My vision some days ridiculous hard to see because my eyes be dilating. I wrote this article because we need to as American be ~~so~~ so careful about who we allow to work in our government offices. Even the local state government. I don't know if you are US citizen but if you are. I need you to pay attention closely to the election before you vote for the next president. Thank you for being concerned about me. That means alot that somebody cares about my circumstance. Have a wonderful Day!

Sincerely
Jennifer Johnson