

UPDATE ON PERRIE

August 11, 2016

Hello everyone. Good morning! I hope you all are prospering in all aspects of life!

Today I can say I am mentally in a great place, despite my confinement. My transition into a life of positivity is beginning to crystalize. My mental state is so great right now! My criminal way of thinking is truly vanishing! I think so clearly now. I understand there is no positive future in criminality. So my life is now dedicated to my education and using my story to deter our youth from turning to criminality. I am no angel, nor am I fully rehabilitated, but I'm working hard to get there!

I still attend several self-help groups. I also write several organizations and participate in their self-help correspondence courses. I will start studying for my G.E.D in a few months. I been putting off getting my G.E.D because I know it will be fairly easy for me to pass it. But I'll get it soon!

My step-father who raised me, recently passed away. It hurted very much when I received the news. He was an extraordinary person. So I am trying to stay upbeat as I know that's what he would have wanted. REST IN PEACE LEON! Love you dad!

The California Innocence project is still investigating my case. I expect them to speed up their investigation in the next coming months. I will keep you all posted.

This was just a brief update. Look out for my next post. I'm looking for a wife!

Stay Prayed up!

Always, Perrie
