This is of course baring significant injury and divine intervention, Denver will not make the playoffs because of lack of decent Q.B., Washington will not make playoffs because of slightly harder schedule. The Jets have an insanely hard schedule. The Ravens defense and offense will return - The Packers offense will return. The Steelers will be good all around - Dallas will get lucky in a mediocre division. Colts will need this year to regain confidence - Panthers are but NFL is ready this time. Houston is good but injuries will hold them back - Raiders are getting there watch out '17. N.E. is N.E. but Brady's getting old and will be beat up in playoffs - Vikings will be good all around but defense will get them there - Bengals will be good all around but Andy will show out and defense will win it - Anyway I've been a fan since 1974.
