

Gods' Ultimate Love Proven

Hello everyone, I would like to share with you a vision/dream that God has given me repeatedly. The Holy Spirit is moving so strongly that I wake up crying after I hear a gentle voice say, "Tell them," so I am. I pray that the Holy Spirit take possession of me right now so that I may serve God and you well enough to succeed in his purpose. Amen.

We have all heard that God created the universe but few people realize why he did it. God created the universe for you, the entire incomprehensible universe for you. Every star and planet, every drop of water and grain of sand, every cloud and rainbow, every bird and butterfly, every bee and flower for you. All of this, all of everything just for you. In the hope that it will give you a second of pleasure so that he may see you smile. God shares every moment of our lives with us. Every laugh, every tear, every hope, every disappointment, every fear and every moment of courage. Every day of every person who ever existed, happened so you could be there today so that God can tell you, "I Love You". Can you hear it? Please, just open up your heart and you will hear him say, "I Love you so much and I have been waiting for this day for so long. Now you are here and can feel my love, let me wrap my arms around you. Everything will be alright now, finally I can take care of you the way I have always wanted to. I have missed you so much I know it has been hard, all the pain and anguish but that was never the way I wanted it to be. It's okay now my beloved, I have you and I will make it better. Nothing and no one will ever take you from me again". Oh, glory to God the Father, he loves us all so much. Please, I beg you open up your hearts and let Father tell you of his endless love. He never wanted us to suffer and he has only been waiting for us to cry out so that he can show us his love and give us the abundant life he intended for us. Just think back to every joyous moment in life, a puppy licking your face, playing in autumn leaves, your mom hugging, your father tickling you, swimming, your first kiss, whatever they are God gave them to you to sustain you until today. If you will just open your hearts, God will give you a love so great it will change your life. All he asks of us in return is for us to share his love with all of the rest of his children. May God bless you and keep you all of your days.

OR e-mail me at

www.jpay.com

I pray this reaches those in need

Peace and Love ☺

Donny Welch #1375713

M<sup>c</sup>Connell Unit

3001 S. Emily Dr.

Beeville, TX, 78102