

Hello Ju,

Asante sana for your comments on "To Judge or Not to Judge." Indeed you're correct, "Judge wisely..." would be a more acceptable statement. Just the same you're correct in the lost in translation aspect, because the verse begins with "Do not judge..." but goes on to state in the manner one judges you likewise will be judged, which sounds like there are occasions when judging can be a blessed thing. In the sense if you make a judgement someone needs your help you likewise will be blessed with help someday.

Ju, asante for taking the time to read my words and I aim to continue to provide you some insight into my thoughts. Take Care!
