

Boy, you all are a hard audience. Ain't heard from anyone on my recent posts for a while.

Anyway, here's what I'm up to:

1) Ignoring the lunatics down the hall who spend their days and nights cussing each other out, banging their doors when their enemy tries to talk — they keep it so loud it's hard to hear

2) continuing to write the autobio about my arrival in prison in 1998 and how it changed/affected me — even though, Joan, I've heard nget from you in two months. I'm at around 40,000 words into the final draft, anticipate it'll be 200,000 — 250,000 words when completed, with around 30 drawings included. It's not P.C. It truthfully discusses racism, racism by Black prisoners and how that pushed me to become racist towards them. And, unfortunately, I am looking for a reliable person, who will communicate with me, to transcribe the book and help me market it, for a percentage of the royalties. Don't holler if you ain't reliable.

3) I connected with a very decent and highly respected neurology professor who's studying how prison impacts prisoners' neurological function. For now I won't say his name, but I was literally doing back flips — you didn't know I could? — when he replied to my letter. He'll be helping me bitch-slap the crap neuro-philosophy/science in A Case for A Creator.

4) And I'm awaiting the decision for my federal appeal of my civil-rights suit over prison staff destroying my books (on neuro-science/philosophy) and drawings, just to be assholes. You can look it up — Appeal No. 16-1528 Lindell v. Pollard — on www.ca7.uscourts.gov It's an important case, as a main issue is misconduct by the A.A.G. on the case, which I seek sanctions for.

And I'm doing a whole lot more, with scant resources.

This is my last envelope. Please order me some more from www.JLmarcuswisconsin.com, item #8039, so I can mail out my propaganda.

Thanks, Later.
Nate

Dear BtB Staff:

Enclosed is a 7 pg. and a 1pg. post for my blog. Please post in the order stated in their upper left corners. The one pager should be the first thing shown.

Thanks:
