Dear Rita,

Hi, how are you? I hope good. I got your comments today (12/7), not 11/28 like you were told. I guess between the mail being so slow & the prisons horrible mailroom. My friends in Italy write me every week, have done so for over 10 years, I haven't received a letter from them in over a month now. But I know they wrote. No, in this prison if you complain about something, they will move you to a worse block, take your job or have your cell searched or just treat you like crap. I complained that we were only being given 1 roll of toilet paper each week & I had my cell trashed by guards & threatened. That's why these places are the way they are. Staff take away our voices with threats of being treated worse than we already are. My brother told me that you's have been in contact. He told me that you sent $20 for me & that he did receive it. He told me he would send it to me right away. So thank you Rita. I will buy $20 worth of phone time so this way I can call my mom 20 times. She is what matters most to me in life. I can do without a lot of stuff but the 2 things I can't is food & to be able to call my mom. So thank you very much Rita. I try not to ask him for too much because he is a single father with a ton of bills & a 4 year old to care for. He does what he can for me. But with a toddler, rent, bills, I don't want to be more of a burden on him than I already am. As for cleaning my sink, too hard. The mold grows in the little holes where the water comes out. I do the best I could scrubbing it. Okay, you have already left for your trip. I hope you have a blast. I am not well traveled & I never will be but I loved the travel channel. I was furious when they took it away from us. I love seeing Europe, Asia, the world. When I would make the fruit salads for me & Justine, you know what my favorite part was, it was watching her eat to see what she liked the most. So this way the next time I knew what to put a little extra in. She loved strawberries. Through trial & error, I learned what she liked, didn't like & I was able to surprise her more. Have you ever considered moving to the U.S.A.? You have family, George. Why does Leslie live in CA?

Well Rita, I guess I will end this now. Since you are on your trip, you might not even get this for awhile. So for now, I say Grazie amica mia, & I hope you are having an amazing time right now. God Bless, ciao.
