Dear Jamie,

hey stranger, how are you? It was great to hear from you today. Thanx. You made me laugh & smile when you said I am as old as your mom. I forget how young you are sometimes. Yes, my mom is frequently in the hospital for seizures, breathing problems, bladder infections, kidney issues, my poor momma is falling apart and I cannot help her. I feel so weak. So lost some times. Do you know this song I am listening to? A very big hit in the usa. I get depressed & turn on the slow jams. No, I can't ski. Just thought maybe you could since you live in switzerland, where like everyone should probably ski. You are funny, you said you tried snowboard for a week & everything hurt.

What I meant by in the usa highschoools have classes everyone goes to, I am not sure if it's the same everywhere, here they have like 6-8 different subjects. math, science, language, history, gym, I forget the rest, and you go from room to room for your different classes with different teachers. I haven't played video games in so many years. Enjoy yourself, in a few years you'll be running around with boys, living your life and having fun. Wish my daughter was like that. But she is too much like her motherin that aspect, she seems to always need to be in a relationship. She moves in with a low life user & she barely knew him. But it is what it is. She doesn't speak to me now. Breaks my heart. I loved calling her & waking her little butt up every morning.

So you are not a sports girl. Yes i got the chance to pet & play with the puppies. I had one chewing on my hand, one licking my face and the last one was chewing on my shoelace. I had such fun, just for 5 minute but it was the best 5 minutes I have had here inside this prison. Only thing thats better is a visit from my family. That cute little girl you saw in the profile photo is my daughter. Wish she could go back to being that little. Well for a young woman who wants to grow up to help people, you can't be lazy Jamie. Wake up girl, get off your butt, get outside, well right now it's probably cold out. My friends in Italy went to the canary islands for a vacation. Well by the time you see this christmas will be over so I hope you & your family have a great holiday. What did you get for christmas? Tell me the good stuff? Well little lady, I must got for now, it's my shower time & I do not skip showers. So you take care of yourself, have a fun holiday, and I hope to hear from you again soon. You can e-mail my brother at: justinpezzeca@yahoo.com

You can send him your info and he will give it to me. Everyone calls him justin. He is the father of my niece baby lucy. I still call her baby but she is almost 5 now. When I get to see her, I almost forget I ma in prison. I love that child (: What kind of video games do you like? be good, write soon. God Bless, Ciao.
