I don't know you but I am glad you were able to interpret my work so well. This is a fantasy story I wrote for an english composition class. I like posting things like this because without seeing the monstrous face I wear you can see the human inside that i know myself to be, few people take the time to understand me. I have 5 boy--Talis, Zander, Thor, Loki, Ryo. I haven't seen them in years but they are always going to be my greatest hope. They will have my love and even if they hate me I will always love them even more than my own life. Thanks for your kind words. I need it in a world so cold and ugly.
